

As an International Educational Consultant, I wish to demonstrate my appreciation of the ideology of the company's owner Oliver Gosden who puts quality above all else in his business.

Ensuring that his supply teacher workforce is well trained and briefed in recent Ofsted inspection developments is noteworthy of mention. I do not know of any recruitment company that has facilitated recent and relevant training for its workforce, ensuring that headteachers have access to staff who know how important sequencing of learning is in the classroom.

I hope to continue to my association with Teachers Together as I am deeply impressed with the values and work ethics that underpin this company.

I recommend Teachers Together without reservation and wish them every success in the future.
